FIGHTING DICK MEETS LIVE ONE

Hyland Knocked Out in the Twenty-third Round by Battling Nelson.

San Francisco, May 29.-Battling Nelson of Illinois knocked out Dick Hyland this afternoon in the twenty-third round of a scheduled forty-five-round bout. The contest was one of the most vicious ever seen in a local ring. The fight was fairly even up to the thirteenth round, after which Nelson took the lead. Hyland was knocked out by a left hook to the stomach, after he had been floored several times in the two preceding rounds.

Throughout a dozen rounds Hyland and the champion hammered each other with vicious swings and uppercuts that cut short all promise of a forty-five-round contest. In the early stages Hyland was the master, although it could not be said whether or not Nelson was extending himself. During the last three rounds, however, the Dane went after his opponent without an instant's rest, knocking Hyland down time after time and staggering the game Californian with blinding volleys of right and left hooks to the head, varied by an occasional crushing straight left to the stomach.

In the final round Hyland was almost at the champion's mercy.

In the finel round Hyland was almost at the champion's mercy.

Nelson frequently offered his face as a target while he tried for body blows, but only after the fight was half over. Until the climax the Grass valley fighter had confidence in himself, meeting rush with rush, clinch with clinch, and generally carrying the fight to his opponent.

Nelson was hissed continually for his attempts to rough it and throughout the fight the men exchanged unfriendly comment.

The attendance was estimated at 9,000. The receipts were $18,000, of which Nelson received $6,500 and Hyland $1,500.

Round 1—They rushed into close quarters and each sought an opening for the other's body and they were locked in close embrace. Nelson drove two short-arm rights to the body and a moment later sank another hard right to the Californian's stomach. Hyland whipped his right to the champion's jaw and they exchanged short-arm jolts to the body. Nelson forced Hyland against the ropes and for the first time the men parted. Nelson whipped his left twice to the face and then danced to his corner as the gong clanged.

It was evident that the men intended to fight solely at close range. There was no decided advantage for either man in this

In the second round there was some quick work at close quarters, both men fighting carefully. Both landed several times, but not dangerously, and honors

Round 3-Nelson rushed in and planted a straight right to the face and duplicated it a moment later. With a left chop to the chin, Hyland caught Nelson off his guard and almost floored the champlon. The crowd cheered the Californian vigorously. They mixed it at close range, batting at each other's body, during which Hyland landed more frequently. Suddenly Nelson cut loose and caught his man with left and right shortarm swings on the face and jaw. They rushed together and Hyland swung his right twice to the body and a moment later scored again similarly. Hyland hooked Nelson twice on the jaw with great force. Nelson, however, retaliated with a stinging left and a clinch ended a rather vicious round.

Hyland had a slight advantage, due to the fact that he landed the cleaner blows. Round 4 saw the first blood, a right to the face starting color from Nelson's mouth, and a moment later Hyland brought blood from the champion's nose. Hyland shot four vicious rights to the jaw and the round ended in his favor.

In the next round Hyland countered cleverly and there was some quick infighting. Hyland got in two left punches on Nelson's jaw and stopped a rush with a straight right to the face. Hyland rushed Nelson to the ropes, but the latter wiggled safely out and after a furious outer ring rally the gong rang.

Round 6 was active, but not vicious, Nelson staying on the defensive and letting Hyland tire himself.

In round 7 the crowd groaned when Nelson hit a bit low, and a second later he got a stiff right uppercut on the chin. He did not break ground, however. They clinched and Hyland landed two rights hard on Nelson's kidneys. Nelson wrestled his man around the ring and the crowd hissed. Nelson landed two hard rights to the stomach and got two punches on the face in return. In the next round Hyland countered

In round 8 Nelson landed his left hard to Hyland's eye and an instant later swung two hard lefts and a right to the head. Nelson then landed a hard right and left to the body, but Hyland coun-tered with a right uppercut to the jaw. Nelson wrestled his man again against the ropes and was cautioned for hold-

In the next round Nelson seemed to be trying for a knockout, but unsuccessfully. He landed two quick lefts and Hyland countered with a right to the ribs that made Nelson wince. Hyland slipped to his knees from a misdirected blow, but was un instantly.

In round Il Nelson took the aggressive again and shot a swift left to the body after which they clinched. Hyland whipped his right to the mouth and Nelson sent in two solid body punches. The men fought an instant at long range and after an exchange of rights to the feed men fought an instant at long range and after an exchange of rights to the face Hyland swung a terrific right to the body. Nelson came back at his man like a tiger and landed several hard left and right wallops to the face. He then rocked Hyland's head with a hard uppercut and forced the latter against the ropes, seeking to land a knockout punch. Nelson had the advantage of the round.

Dick a Bit Tired.

Round 12—Nelson came up fresh. He jabbed Hyland with a trio of lefts to the face and Hyland sought cover. Hyland appeared to be a bit tired at this stage, but finding Nelson uncovered shot two wicked lefts to the jaw and Nelson fought back wildly. The best blow of the round was a staggering right to the jaw by Nelson, ending a vicious slugging bee. Round 13 was one of the best of the fight, Nelson peppered at Hyland's face with rights and lefts, forcing the latter against the ropes. Hyland fought back viciously and rocked Nelson's head with a left chop. A moment later he shot a straight right to Nelson's face. Nelson swung a terrific left to the chin and Hyland began to look serious. A left to the body delivered immediately afterward caused Hyland to clinch, but he recuper-

Round 14 brought a pretty exchange of blows, but with no damage.

Round 16—Nelson rushed in with his old-time vigor and Hyland was kept busy blocking his whirlwind punches. Hyland put in two lefts to the chin, and then sent his left twice straight to the Battler's mouth. He followed this with four right clouts to the jaw and a left to the same

Round 17—Both came up willingly. They exchanged hard right and lefts to the jaw. Nelson uppercut his antagonist twice with rights to the chin. He then swung two hard rights and a left to the same place, and Hyland rushed in. In doing so he peppered Nelson's face with a rain of left and right-hand blows, and forced the champion against the ropes. In a rally that brought the crowd to its feet, Hyland sent Nelson against the ropes twice with well-directed right and left swings to the jaw. The gong rang with Nelson against the ropes and looking very much the worse for wear. The crowd was wild.

Tame in Nineteenth.

Round 19 was rather tame. Both men were sent to the ropes but no damage resulted. As the gong sounded Hyland swung a powerful right, catching Nelson flush on the jaw, but the champion only Round 20 was Nelson's. He opened by chopping his man with right and left on head, and two solid right punches to the body. Nelson then delivered some piledriving rights and lefts to the stomach, and they clinched. Hyland swung his right over the kidneys. Round 21—The men were loathe to break and had to be importuned repeatedly by the referee. They fought fiercely at close range, during which Hyland was sent to his haunches, more from a push than a punch. He came up at the count of four and fought Nelson to a standstill. Nelson sent his man to the floor again with a fearful right to the jaw. Hyland was down nine seconds. He came up glassyeyed. Nelson waded in, landing right and left to the jaw with merciless precision. Hyland tottered around the ring dazed and nearly out when the gong rang. and nearly out when the gong rang.

Last of Dick Hyland.

Round 22—Hyland came up looking much distressed. Nelson sailed in and watched for an opportunity like an eagle. Finally a right and left caught the Californian on the jaw, and a moment later two rights were sunk into Hyland's stomach. He fought back gamely but looked a beaten man. Nelson shot right and left with terrific impact into the Californian's stomach. Finally a right heok sent Hyland to the floor for the count of eight. He arose only once more to be sent to the floor from a succession of rights and lefts to the jaw. "Hold on to him," came the injunction from Hyland's corner. This again saved Hyland from certain defeat, the gong ending the round with the local lad almost out.

Round 22—Nelson went right at his man, determined to end matters at once if possible. He rushed Hyland against the ropes and then into the center of the ring. Hyland's knees began to sag, and it required no effort for Nelson to send him to the mat for the count of seven. Stepping back suddenly, Nelson hooked his left with all the power at his command. Straight and sure the blow traveled, catching Hyland in the pit of the stomach, and the Californian dropped. Not waiting for the count of the official timekeeper, Referce Smith grabbed Nelson by the shoulder, motioned him to his corner and declared the contest at an end. Hyland, to all intents and purposes, was knocked out completely, and was was knocked out completely, and was lifted from the floor, where he lay prone, and carried to his corner.

Quality of Athletes So High That Three Records Are Broken.

Cambridge, Mass., May 29.-The Crimson Jerseyed sprinters, hurdlers, leapers and weight-throwers brought to Harvard in the stadium today the championship of the Intercollegiate association for the first time since 1901.

Although Harvard was never headed in the race for points after the meet was fairly under way, the quality of the athletes representing the twelve colleges was so high that three records were broken, new times being made in the mile and times being made in the two-mile runs and a new height being set in the pole vault.

W. C. Paul of Pennsylvania cut the mile record from 4 minutes 20 3-5 seconds, made years ago by his fellow collegian, Guy Haskins, to 4 minutes 17 4-5 seconds. Then Haskins, to 4 minutes 174-5 seconds. Then P. J. Taylor of Cornell ran the two-mile race in 9 minutes 273-5 seconds, more than seven seconds off the former record, held by F. W. Rowe of Michigan, also made two years ago. The new pole vault mark was established by C. S. Campbell at 12 feet 314 inches. The old mark of 12 feet held by D. At Ithaca-Harvard 5, Cornell 2. EPHRAIM CLAIMS VICTORY.

In last Wednesday's Herald appeared an account of a game played between Munroe and Ephraim, which the Munroe team claimed to have won. This is disputed in an article sent The Herald and signed by Umpire A. Johnson of Elsinore and Scorers Logan and Loring. The article says: "The beet-eaters of Sevier must be in possession of some peculiar dope, to carry the idea that they won an eleven-inning game, when they were defeated. The of-ficial details of the game are as follows: In the eighth inning the score stood 8 to 8. In the ninth no runs were scored on either side. In the tenth one score was added to each side, making the score 9 to 9. In the eleventh Monroe was first to the bat, and before they were retired they had scored two runs. Ephraim came up had scored two runs. Ephraim came up and started the fireworks, scoring two runs, making the score even, and also had a runner on second base, and no one out. It was here the celebrated beet-eaters balked as to one of the runners scoring for Ephraim. The umpire made his decision in favor of Ephraim, and Monroe again balked. They were given five minutes in which to play ball, which they failed to do, and the game was then and there forfeited to the Ephraim team, 9 to 0."

Jeffries, apparently spurred on by Corbett's presence, rushed at Berger and pummeled him all over the ring. He used every jab, swing and punch in his repertoire, and his defensive tactics hardly could be improved. Corbett was so amazed at Jeffries' cleverness that he forgot to call time for the round, and Berger ceased hostilities by going to his Berger ceased hostilities by going to his
